A 1924 Classic French Eclectic

Watercolor painting and article
notes by Liana Yarckin

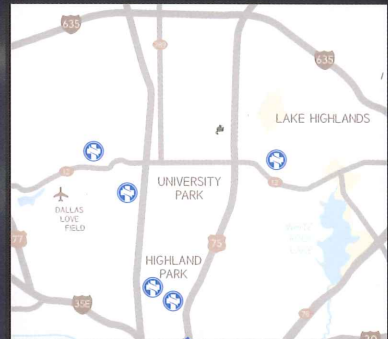

Built in 1924, this gorgeous home was designed by architect, Hal Thompson. French Eclectic in style, its original design was very efficient and classic. The current owners were lucky to find the floor plans in the attic.

It was renovated in 2011 by Eric Hedlund Design, who loves old homes and was respectful to the original style of the home in the addition and the updating. While minimal work was done to the original footprint of the home, it is now the perfect home for a busy family of four who loves to entertain.

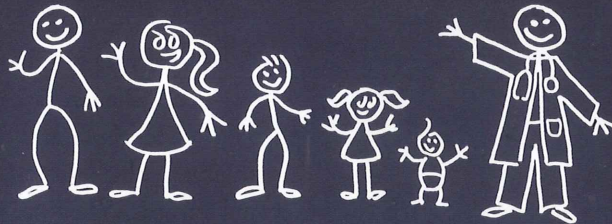

We're keeping up with your growing family.
